

State
OH

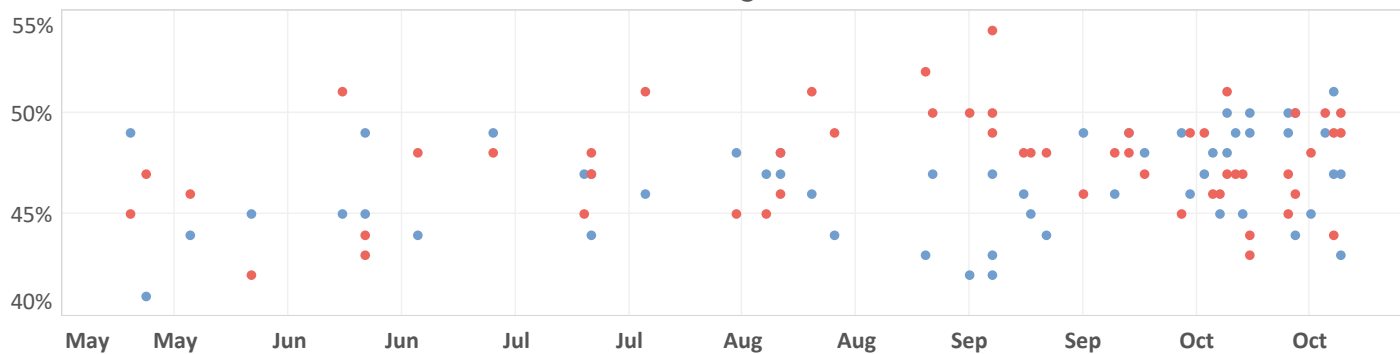

35.8%

64.2%

The graph shows a significant shift in public opinion over time. The blue line, representing the belief that the U.S. is a democracy, starts at 100% in May and generally trends downward, ending at 36.3% in October. The red line, representing the belief that the U.S. is a dictatorship, starts at 0% in May and generally trends upward, ending at 64.6% in October. The lines cross between August and September, indicating a point where more respondents believed the U.S. was a dictatorship than a democracy.

Month	Democracy (%)	Dictatorship (%)
May	100	0
Jun	~70	~30
Jul	~65	~35
Aug	~60	~40
Sep	~40	~60
Oct	36.3	64.6

Polling

A map of the United States with states colored in red and blue. The text "United States" is centered in the middle, and "OH" is prominently displayed over Ohio. Surrounding countries and regions like Canada, Mexico, and parts of Europe are visible in the background.